The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Trigg '104 or Hokkirigawa ("Development of Hard and Porous Carbon Material RB Ceramics Using Rice Bran as a Starting Material).

Trigg teaches making a ceramic product starting with rice hull and further adding a ceramic material (e.g. alumina (see col.5, lines 45-55) which is mixed, heated, and pressed into a shape.

Hokkirigawa would also appear to teach the same process as claimed by applicants for their instant invention (see page 3 of reference).

For both references above, overlapping ranges of amounts would have been prima facie obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art.

Vempati has been cited of interest.
